- Murals

A multi-faceted artist and graphic designer, drawing his inspiration and poetic vision for original works from social, spiritual and cultural situations.

The son of internationally renowned Salvadoran artist Pedro Ipiña,

Peter had the opportunity to learn and refine his techniques from the age of 12 and completed his first exhibition by the age of 18.

Following this training and formal education, Peter has continued to create original works as well as develop artistic and graphic design and illustration projects for clients.

Peter specializes in graphite, pastel plaster, watercolor, acrylic and oil.

Through every stroke of his brush, he captures the vibrant essence of humanity and nature. His art is not merely a visual expression, but a spiritual dialogue that transcends the canvas.

With passion and precision, he addresses themes of social justice, weaving narratives of struggle and hope that resonate within the soul.

His dedication to environmental conservation is reflected in works that sing the praises of the natural world, a pressing reminder of our stewardship as Earth's guardians.

The still lifes he creates are windows into moments frozen in time, invitations to contemplation and appreciation for the transient. And in his portrait collections, he captures the unfathomable depth of human experience; each face is a universe of emotions, a mirror to our own existence. Altogether, his oeuvre is a tribute to life, a legacy of beauty and meaning that defies oblivion and celebrates the eternal connection between art and spirituality.
